

Short CV

Jürgen Coppik is an economic expert with focus on areas of overlap between Law and Economics, such as Competition Economics, Cartel Damages or Sector Regulation. He is Professor of Economics at the Düsseldorf Institute for Competition Economics (DICE) and also holds a ph. D. in Law.

His dual scientific background in Economics and Law comes along with practical experience of 25 years, as independent entrepreneur since 2010, but also in international strategic management consulting (AT Kearney, Global Core Team Communications and Media, 4 years) and the industry (Senior Manager Competition Economics and Regulatory Strategy at Vodafone, over 5 years).

Prof. Coppik is specialized in economic analyses in legal proceedings, for example regulatory issues in the telecommunications and digital media sector and competition law infringements including subsequent cartel damage cases in various industries.

Recent case examples are:

- Economic expert for Meta in defense against Deutsche Telekom claims for IP interconnection fees (“fair share” debate, English version of the report available here),
- Supporting Vodafone with economic expertise in regulatory issues such as frequency allocation and rate regulation proceedings in front of German National Regulatory Authority (BNetzA),
- Economic expert for Deutsche Versand Service GmbH (dvs) in damage claims against dominant player Deutsche Post for abusive pricing.